TROLLEY CAR CRASHES INTO A STANDING CAR

Fourteen Persons Are Injured at Indian Orchard--Fourth Serious Accident on the Line Within Six Weeks

(Special to The Herald)
Springfield, Mass., Aug. 25.—Fourteen persons were injured, five seriously when a heavily loaded trolley car crashed into a standing car at the plant of the Fibreboard Company at Indian Orchard this morning. Nine of the injured were taken to the local hospital, while five less seriously injured were taken to their homes. None of the injured are expected to die. The two cars contained workmen from this city bound for their work. The accident was due to a heavy fog, and the motorman of the second car failed to see the one ahead until within a few feet of it. This is the fourth serious accident on the line within six weeks.

FISHERMEN HAD 163 SHORT LOBSTERS

Were Selling Them at Auction to Wardens, Who Offered Bids With Others.

The fishermen of Wells are expecting to send checks to the commission of sea and shore fisheries of Maine as the result of being caught by Fish Wardens Fred S. Doyle and Waldo A. Ricker with 163 short lobsters in their possession. It was a case of where the Wells men walked into the arms of the wardens with the "shorts" and incidentally it might be stated that the men received the surplus of their lives. It was at an auction at Wells recently that it all took place. The fishermen were doing a land office business by selling shorts by the dozen and unmindful of the identity of Wardens Doyle and Ricker, continued to take orders in the presence of the officers until the dealers started to produce the goods and the wardens took possession of the stock in trade. One man had 114 shorts and the second 40.

WILL NOT MAKE ANY FURTHER CONCESSIONS

Brotherhood Representatives Inform President Wilson to That Effect.

(Special to The Herald)
Washington, Aug. 25.—The Brotherhood's representatives now conferring with President Wilson and the presidents and managers of the roads will not recede from their acceptance of Wilson's plan to end the controversy, but under no circumstances will they make any further concessions to the railroads. Wilson was so informed today by representatives from the Brotherhood. President Wilson discussed the entire situation with the Brotherhood leaders seeking to find whether there was not some other compromise plan to be agreed upon which would force a speedy settlement. The Brotherhood men told the President that they and their associates had accepted his plan of an 8-hour work day on a 10-hour basis of pay in good faith, abandoning all collateral questions including the demand for overtime pay, and that they must now stand pat. If the roads will not yield, they said, there was nothing for the men but to order a general strike. While the Brotherhood men conferred with Wilson, the executives of the roads held their first secret meeting in the Willard hotel.

FRENCH TROOPS CHECK ATTEMPT TO RECAPTURE FLEURY

East of the Meuse the Germans Made a Dash Against the French Holding the Ruined City

(Special to The Herald)
Paris, Aug. 25.—Attempts by the Germans to recapture Fleury on the Verdun front have been repulsed by the French. North of the Somme the Germans directed a fierce bombardment against Maurepas which was taken by the French in a series of attacks on Thursday. Under this rain of shells the French troops consolidated their new position in preparation for the German's counter attacks which they expected would follow. After the cannonade the German infantry was sent forward against the French lines stretching south of Maurepas but were driven back in spite of the determination with which the assault was pressed home. The total number of prisoners taken by the French within the past 24 hours is 250. East of the Meuse the Germans made a dash against the French, holding the ruined city of Fleury but the attack was completely repulsed.

CHAMPIONS OUTPLAYED BY MORLEY BUTTON CO.

P. A. C. Lost Fast Game, 4 to 2, in the Sunset League Race for the Pennant—Horn, P. Timmons, Newick and Leary Rapped Out Long Hits

An enthusiastic crowd of fans were on hand last evening and witnessed the defeat of the Champions at the hands of the Morley Button Company, 4 to 2. After the game had started twice in the first inning and were apparently holding the winners at their mercy. In the third inning the Morley's three runs and their fourth was scored in the fourth on a single, double and a triple. Bailey was working behind the bat for the winners and the game is played under protest to be decided by the directors.

There was something doing all the time from 5:30 until the game was called in the first of the fifth after one man had batted, on account of darkness. Horn's three batters, the doubles by Newick, Leary and P. Timmons, and the fine catch off Horn by McPheters in the third, were among the features of the game.

HAMPTON BEACH

The season is now working into its last lap and the crowds are the greatest of the season, which will last until the carnival closes on September 11. The rapid growth of the patronage this month has more than made up for the deficiency of the early season when the weather conditions were exceedingly bad for the merchants. The great rush of August, however, has brought new spirit and enthusiasm all along the beach and with fair weather conditions for the carnival the season of 1916 will be a banner one.

George H. Stackpole of Exeter has been sojourning at the shore for a brief stay.

Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Chase of Newfields are among the recent registrants at the Cutler Seaview house.

The heavy rain of Wednesday night has put the highways in bad condition again, and considerable attention will have to be paid to get them back into proper condition for carnival week. Much work has been expended on them with this purpose in view but the rain has spoiled the effort and the highway commissioners will have to go over the roads again.

The police force will be augmented for carnival week with a large force of extra officers to care for the large crowd. Several plain clothes men will be stationed at the beach to watch the pickpockets and crooks, who it is feared may be attracted to the beach by the carnival crowds.

Frank L. McMaster of Manchester is among the large colony of Manchester people at the beach.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Parker of Portsmouth were registered recently at the Ashworth.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Brackett of Newmarket were sojourning at the beach this week for a recreation period.

Mrs. Daniel Shea of Nashua has been a guest at the hotel Fairview the present week.

Miss Mary A. Cushing of Manchester has been a recent visitor at the beach.

Mrs. Samuel Emery passed away at her home on Monday.

RUMOR ULTIMATUM GIVEN BY TRAINMEN

Previously Optimistic Leader of R. R. Presidents Says Situation Has Suddenly Become "Very Serious"—No Details—Rush to White House.

Washington, Aug. 24.—"Since midnight the situation has taken a change for the worse," declared a member of the railway presidents' sub-committee before the sub-committee left for the White House at their own request this afternoon to confer with the President. "The situation is very serious," he added.

The sub-committee, N. S. Lovett of the Union Pacific; Daniel Willard of the Baltimore & Ohio and Hale Holden of the Burlington, expected to report the result of their visit to a meeting of the whole number of railway presidents at 3 o'clock. They left a meeting of the latter which had been in session since 11 o'clock to make the trip to the White House.

"Everything now depends on this visit to the White House," said one of the three. He would not discuss what the negotiations had taken to make the situation worse.

The executive in question is one who has heretofore talked optimistically concerning the prospects for adjustment.

Today's meeting at the White House was first announced by Judge Chambers of the federal board of mediation and conciliation. It followed a visit by him to the hall where the brotherhoods' 640 representatives were in session. There he conferred with the four brotherhood presidents and left them apparently in increased good spirits.

Indications grew today that the railway presidents were trying to find a way out of the situation on the basis of conceding the eight-hour day in some form—but not in the form demanded by the brotherhoods, supported by President Wilson.

It was persistently rumored, though without tangible basis, that the brotherhoods have submitted an ultimatum to the railroad, demanding action within a limited time.

The climax in the negotiations to prevent the threatened general strike appeared to have been reached at 2 o'clock this afternoon. At that hour the sub-committee of eight railroad presidents, representing the greatest systems of the country, met with the full committee of 64 executives.

Concession of the eight-hour day was to be offset, it is understood by assurances of immediate consideration by the interstate commerce commission of requests for rate increases, remedial legislation for the railroads by Congress, and the creation of a permanent commission to settle future labor disputes.

A clash among the presidents was confidently predicted. The first indications of this broke out during the session this morning, when a discussion of possible terms of settlement resulted in strong declarations from some of the most prominent executives against acceptance of any peace proposal which includes an eight-hour day such as offered by President Wilson.

Bound to Be a Fight
That there will be a determined fight against acceptance of any proposition regarding an eight-hour day with 10 hours pay was indicated by a large number of executives today.

Judge W. I. Chambers of the federal board of mediation and conciliation conferred with President Wilson for half an hour today and then left to confer with representatives of the brotherhoods.

Chambers would not discuss in any way the purpose of either visit, but it is known the President asked for the conference after seeing representatives of the railway presidents last night. The general belief is that the eight-hour proposition, as offered by the railroads was the subject discussed.

The President understands he is to receive some definite word from the railroad executives today. He has not been informed whether it will be the final word on his own proposition or some counter proposition by them.

"The situation is not depressing," said A. D. Garretson, speaker for the men, "We are still sitting tight."

Effort of the railway presidents was concentrated today on the task of putting the railroad brotherhoods on the defensive. To this end they were declaring generally their willingness to grant the eight-hour day, while showing that the concession for which the brotherhoods are holding out goes far beyond that. Several thousand words of press statements directed to this purpose were released last night and today.

They will concede the railway presidents say. An eight-hour day for eight hour pay at present rates.

Overtime at present rates, or arbitration of the overtime question. They say they will not concede an eight-hour day for which they must pay the same wage, they now pay for a 10-hour day. It would mean an increase of 21 per cent in wages to the brotherhood members, the presidents say.

"The employees haven't demanded a day of eight hours' work," said Julius Kruttschnitt of the Southern Pacific. "They would work just as many hours as at present, but at much higher cost to the roads."

"If the brotherhoods are willing to work eight hours for a day's pay, this controversy could be settled in 20 minutes," said E. P. Ripley of the Santa Fe. "Let them declare for that and I'll take off my coat and put in my best looks for them."

President Johnson of the Norfolk & Western issued a statement containing similar argument. The upshot of these declarations was the admission that the eight-hour day is to be accepted in some form. They want it to be in a form that will not cost them the enormous sums which they say granting the brotherhoods' demands would cost.

Trainmen Not Moved
Above all, as one of them put it, they want to be able to say: "We have granted a fair eight-hour day. It's now up to the President or public opinion to compel the brotherhoods to accept it."

Brotherhood officials today refused to see any concession in the new eight-hour talk of the railroad presidents. "That is the same sort of talk we have heard for months," said one official. "That is not meeting the President's proposal either in letter or spirit."

The brotherhood men charged today that the big lines "are lobbying the nation" to shake it appear public sentiment is with capital on the strike situation. Station agents and others are the means, they said whereby this alleged lobby operates. These men, the employees say, have urged the public to flood President Wilson with messages favoring arbitration.

"VERY GOOD, EDDIE"
Big Musical Comedy Success a Tremendous Hit at Yo Wilbur Theatre, Boston.

"Very Good Eddie," musical play by Philip Bartholomae, Guy Bolton, Jerome Kern and Schuyler Green, founded on the farce, "Over Night," has made a tremendous hit at the Wilbur Theatre, Boston, where it enters on its third week, next Monday evening, August 28.

"Very Good Eddie," is characterized by the same simplicity that made "Nobody Home" so welcome an attraction at this theatre a year ago. It comes here as did its predecessor, from a long run at the Princess Theatre, New York, a little playhouse presided over by Miss Elizabeth Marbury and Roy Constock, producing managers, who have reaped rich rewards by adherence to their convictions that extravagant splendor and banalities are not the prime requisites of successful musical comedy.

Every evening's audience expresses approval of the new production with joyous acclaim, laughing uproariously over nearly every line and situation, and insisting upon hearing every song sung again and again. It was the first show of the season and the generous repeat was ravenously enjoyed. There was good reason, too for most of the applause.

Rarely has a more brightly diverting and tuneful little play been presented here, nor has one been recently seen that was more artistically staged and consumed.

The cast is made up of thoroughly competent players, most of them singing quite well enough. Ernest Truex, who was the diminutive Mr. Kettle

SUFFRAGISTS WHOSE ARGUMENTS HELPED CHANGE MR. HUGHES' OPINIONS.

MRS. CARRIE CHAPMAN CATT DR. ANNA SHAW MRS. NORMAN D. R. WHITEHOUSE

Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, one of the ablest, if not the ablest woman in the United States, president of the National American Woman's Suffrage Association, Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, former president, and Mrs. Norman D. R. Whitehouse, chairman of the New York State Woman Suffrage Party, were the three whose arguments did more to cause Charles E. Hughes to announce himself for federal action on the woman suffrage question than the work of any others.

Mrs. Catt, Dr. Shaw and Mrs. Whitehouse called on Mr. Hughes in his New York headquarters July 17 and urged him to help the women of the country in their fight for the ballot by giving an endorsement of suffrage "without any string to it." Mr. Hughes listened to them attentively for more than an hour, and at the conclusion of the interview assured them that the National American Woman Suffrage Association would be satisfied with his stand on the suffrage question. The Republican candidate's assurances were lived up to by him both in his recent telegram to Senator Sutherland of Utah, and his speech before the Women's Roosevelt League at the Astor Hotel in New York City on August 1.

Members and guests of the Wenehasa Club of this city, to the number of 50, were present on Thursday evening at the first annual reunion of the club, held at the Hotel Ashworth, Hampton Beach, making the trip from Portsmouth by automobiles. The banquet was held at the hotel at 7:00 o'clock, Harold B. Wendell, Portsmouth, 17, officiating as toastmaster. Post-prandial remarks were made by Past President John J. Hassett and President Theodore Butler.

BOYS AND GIRLS CAN WIN PRIZES AT THE FAIR

NEW FEATURE ADDED TO PORTSMOUTH FAIR IN CONJUNCTION THE STATE COLLEGE AND U. S. DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE.

The Portsmouth Fair Association has offered prizes totalling $75 for the boys and girls in Rockingham County. Forty dollars of this money will be awarded as prizes for exhibits of agricultural produce raised by the boys and girls in the agricultural clubs under the direction of Mr. Carlisle and Miss Sanborn of New Hampshire College. Thirty-five dollars will be awarded as prizes of free trips to the National Dairy Show at Springfield this October.

The exhibits must be the standard exhibits as defined in the regulations of the boy's and girl's club work. They should be sent to Mr. Carlisle, Portsmouth Fair, Portsmouth, N. H., and should be in his hands by September 2, 1916.

Four boys and one girl will be sent to the National Dairy Show with all expenses paid, and under the personal supervision of Mr. Carlisle. These judging contests will be held on September 6th on the fair grounds at 10 a. m. The contests will be as follows:

1. Crop Judging. The winner of this contest will be one boy who will help make up the state team to judge potatoes and corn at the Dairy Show, where the prizes will total to $65.

2. Canning and Sewing Judging. The winner of this contest will be one girl, who will go to the National Show and compete with the girls from other Eastern states for substantial prizes.

3. Dairy Livestock Judging. The winner of this contest will be three boys, who will go to the National Dairy Show as a dairy judging team of Rockingham County. The prizes at the judging contest there will total $25.

The prizes are big, and should be an incentive to every boy and girl under 18 years of age to compete. It is hoped that many boys and girls will be at the fair on September 6 at 10.00 a. m. and enter the judging contests. The Extension Service of New Hampshire College, The Rockingham County Farmer's Association through its county agent, and the Portsmouth Fair are all fostering these exhibitions and contests. They all hope the boys and girls will take a big interest in the contests.

WENEHASA CLUB HOLDS FIRST ANNUAL REUNION

Members and guests of the Wenehasa Club of this city, to the number of 50, were present on Thursday evening at the first annual reunion of the club, held at the Hotel Ashworth, Hampton Beach, making the trip from Portsmouth by automobiles. The banquet was held at the hotel at 7:00 o'clock, Harold B. Wendell, Portsmouth, 17, officiating as toastmaster. Post-prandial remarks were made by Past President John J. Hassett and President Theodore Butler.

Following the banquet at the hotel the members of the club and their lady guests adjourned to the Casino for dancing and later in the evening they motored to Salisbury Beach for the display of fireworks, returning to Portsmouth by motor at midnight.

The Wenehasa Club has become one of the most active social organizations among the young people in the city and has grown rapidly since its foundation in 1913 when four young men, members of the Portsmouth high school met on May 13 of that year and organized as a social club. These were Harold B. Wendell, Sherman P. Newton, John J. Hassett and Philip H. Sanderson. In the order named the first two letters of the names of these members were joined together for the club name. With each passing year the membership has grown until it has reached its present number. The club is always active in social affairs and is in a prosperous financial condition. They have their headquarters in rooms in the Y. M. C. A. building, an organization to which the majority of the members belong.

In the year of its foundation the officers of the club were Philip H. Sanderson, president; John J. Hassett, vice president; Harold B. Wendell, secretary; and Sherman P. Newton, treasurer. A feature of the reunion was the attendance of the four charter members.

At the banquet letters of regret at their inability to be present were read by the toastmaster from Lemuel Pope, a member of the club, who has just been admitted to the U. S. Military Academy at West Point; and Phillips Badger, who is at present attending the preparedness training camp at Plattsburg.

The members of the club are: Harold B. Wendell, Sherman P. Newton, John J. Hassett, Philip H. Sanderson, Shirley B. Simpson, Charles D. Brackett, William C. Murch, Lemuel Pope, Jr., Frank J. Massey, Earl H. Bruce, Theodore R. Butler, Clayton P. Mudgett, Phillips B. Badger, Charles E. Thomas, Linwood H. Dunn, Thomas J. Craig, Walter Mulholland, Wallace Akerman, Paul Conover, Justin French, Waldo Phinney, Arthur P. Davis, John R. Pickering, Irving Doolittle, Dewey Graham, Herbert Harrington, Frank Patterson, Jack Shillaber, Melvin Clark, Lawrence Carrier, Wesley Smith, Philip Ham.

The reunion was in charge of this committee: John J. Hassett, chairman, Sherman P. Newton, Philip H. Sanderson, Harold B. Wendell and the present officers: President, Theodore R. Butler; vice president, Walter Mulholland; secretary, Arthur Davis;

Another Educational Innovation.

It is interesting to read that Columbia University is to introduce a course in salesmanship for the purpose of fitting young men for selling goods, managing the sale of goods, advertising, etc. The course will include business English and commercial correspondence, a thorough mastery of which cannot fail to be highly beneficial.

This step on the part of this great university affords one more evidence of the fact that in this day it is coming to be felt more and more that workers in practically every business and industry must be the products of the schools. A college education is no longer the equipment of the professional man only. We now have the college educated farmer and the college educated manufacturer, and why not the college educated salesman? That is the question Columbia University has asked, and it answers the question by opening a course for the training of such salesmen.

We have long had the agricultural college and the vocational school, and now comes the teaching of salesmanship in one of the country's great universities. At first thought it seems a peculiar innovation, but it will soon be an old story and the salesman looking for a position will in many cases be prepared to show his diploma.

However, it will take something more than a diploma to make a successful salesman. A course of study in a university may be helpful, but the probability is that the successful salesman, in the future as in the past, will be the graduate of the school of experience. The boy who grows up in a business, mastering it step by step as he goes along, is the one who is apt to get to the front, whether his duties take him to the sales department or some other branch of the business. His knowledge is practical and not theoretical, and it is the practical man that is demanded by the business conditions of today.

It is possible that the teaching of salesmanship in college may be practical and beneficial, but the boys who are learning business in the old way, and who have not the time or means for a course of study, need not be alarmed by the fear that their positions will be taken from them by college men. The man who can sell goods will never lack employment, and it is quite possible to learn to sell merchandise without taking a university course.

More than two-thirds of the wood pulp used in paper making in the United States last year came from Canada. It is fortunate that there are forests somewhere that can be drawn upon, and one of these days the men who are standing between the forests and the consumers of paper will have to get out of the way to the extent of reducing prices to a reasonable basis. There is a prevalent belief that there is no legitimate excuse for the present extortionate prices for print paper, and that the conditions offer a fruitful field to the trust busters.

In the Massachusetts state house is a book in which is inscribed the signatures of all high officials who have been sworn into the service of the state for many years past. The other day a party of sightseers mistook the book for a visitors' register and several names were added to its pages before the mistake was discovered. The book is known as the "book of oaths," and it would justify its name if some of the language used by its custodian when he discovered the mistake had found lodgment on its pages.

The story that Japan is trying to steal a foothold on the Isthmus of Panama for a coaling station was apparently made out of whole cloth. The Japanese embassy at Washington pronounces it too ridiculous to call for denial. There is little room for such canards at a time when there is so much going on in the world that is of the utmost importance.

The clam bake continues as a popular attraction, and the weather of late has been most favorable for this form of outing. If there was a scarcity of fuel the clams could be laid in the sun and baked to a crisp in short order. What a pity it is that the old-timer's dream of basking in sunshine for winter use cannot be realized.

The navy seems to know how to meet the cost of living problem. It is said the cost of feeding the men has decreased since the beginning of the European war to the extent of three quarters of a cent per capita. And of course the "drys" will attribute the saving to Secretary Daniels' famous order relative to the wine mess.

It is generally conceded that this is the longest and hottest hot wave of recent years in this part of the country. Some eastern cities report the mercury more than 100 above in the shade, and it is not to be wondered at that messages of sympathy are being received from the boys on the Mexican border.

Investigation into the cause of the great munitions explosion on Black Tom Island in New York Harbor has progressed so far as to disclose that the trouble was "started by fire!"

IMMIGRANT EDUCATION A PROBLEM

Social Workers Hear Need of National Program at Isles of Shoals Conference.

"I have found cows housed in cellars of Boston suburbs," said Dr. George W. Tupper, immigration secretary of the State Y. M. C. A. committee at the sociological conference held at Star Island, Isles of Shoals, on Thursday night.

"I have heard of Greek shepherds who thought it all right to kill sheep in the suburbs. I have seen poultry in houses. It is not the fault of the people. It is a question of civic education of the immigrant. It is the question of the new environment. Social, state and national aid will be necessary, although individual aid is needed. There must be a national program. Private organizations can never do this adequately."

Dr. Tupper spoke on the problem of immigration at both the morning and evening conferences yesterday. He expressed the belief that social service was becoming more and more a question of vital national interest with the increase in immigration. Dr. Samuel G. Batten of the Northern Baptist convention scheduled to speak Thursday was detained. He will lecture tonight.

"We must adopt a friendly attitude," said Dr. Tupper. "The relation between industries and strikers is concerned. Men buy their way into industry and may stay there a good deal more generally than we believe. Take these circumstances with the consequent dissatisfaction, and add to the fact that the immigrant does not speak English he gets only the exorbitant foreign side and not the inner American view of the question. It is a serious thing for a man to strike with but ten dollars between him and starvation. In considering his reception we must consider housing conditions. We must show him how to live and it must be by demonstration. The question is largely one of wages scales. In a large automobile factory where the employees are now receiving $5 a day conditions have changed from bad to better. They have investigators to teach them, sanitary precautions."

"They have national and state organizations now entirely inadequate to cope with the situation. There are certain states where a man cannot get employment if he is not naturalized. All the figures we have on employment come from the labor unions. The state free employment bureau in Massachusetts is very inefficient in this respect. In one instance they had knowledge of 1000 men out of employment in Bangor, Me., and they continued to send applications there."

"With very few exceptions," continued Dr. Tupper, "no state has a domestic policy on the question of immigration. There is none for any of the New England states. Civic education of the immigrant is that form of education which has a tendency toward fitting the foreign born to share the privileges and responsibilities of American citizenship. It begins in the old world when a man begins to think about coming to America. Here is a chance for education given by American officials at points of embarkation. Civic education in the public schools has both a direct and indirect influence. It affects both the children and their parents."

EDITORIAL COMMENT

The Thankless Maine Farmers (From the New York Times, Ind. Item.)

Secretary McAdoo went to Maine to give information regarding the benefit to farmers through the Administration's rural credit law. He will leave Maine with information that the farmers in that region are in greater need of short credits than of long loans. A better title system to make loans easier at current rates was another necessity in Maine. The Secretary was told Secretary McAdoo had nothing to offer on these heads, and suffered the humiliation of bearing that the tour of the country during the campaign was open to the construction of public rather than financial motive.

It is likely that the Maine farmers are better judges of their own interests than of the needs of the western farmers. The western press now carries advertisements offering twenty-year loans at 6 per cent upon account of principal. Thus $3260 would pay both interest and principal at maturity on a $2000 loan. The annual payments fall from $220 in the first year to $106 in the last year, and the privilege is given of antedating payments on the principal and thus reducing the interest account. The money is offered by an insurance company, which allows no commission or brokerage of any sort, and there are no requirements of

CURRENT OPINION

In these times of peace which we are now enjoying too much emphasis is given, in the agitation for a better and a greater army and navy, to the cost which unpreparedness will inflict upon us in loss of treasure and of wealth, of payment for indemnity, of great expenditure.

But, while we thus talk and write of the necessity of protecting our wealth and our industries, is there no greater cost to be reckoned with, to absorb our thoughts, to appeal to our manhood? A cost even greater than the lives of our country's sons who may be sacrificed at the hands of an invading foe?

It is an incontrovertible fact that we are not prepared against war. Shall we quickly—may, at once—make such preparation? Or shall we, while engaged in sordid calculation or the strife of partisan politics, hesitate and stumble and thus take the chance, if not the certainty, of some day paying not only gold and silver, but, to our everlasting shame, a priceless and a monstrous cost for unpreparedness? God forbid!—By Charles L. Fralley, Association for National Service.

investment, or guarantee of other borrowers, as in the Government's scheme.

It is a nice question whether the insurance company's plan or the Government's would be more favored by borrowers. If the farmers show decided preference for the Government scheme, there will be a corresponding displacement of capital. Through the competition of tax funds with private capital, farm loans total about three billions and the supply of funds just now is larger than the supply of mortgages. The farmers are flush with their extraordinary prosperity, and a class of investors is seeking securities which will be unaffected by the changes to follow the ending of the war. Into the market thus nicely adjusted there come millions of Government funds, with exemption from taxation, and offering to farmers privileges not offered to equally deserving borrowers. For example, more farmers own their homes than city dwellers, but no aid is offered to the latter. It is an interesting experiment, and the Secretary is likely to have other like experiences before he completes his swing around the circle.

Ware of Tools

From the Christian Science Monitor) As the United States rural credits law is put into effect, the farmer who hunts his prosperity in the face of his neighbors by not bothering to take care of his tools, seems likely to get small results. The man who says he has no time to house his mower, horse rake, drier and threshing engine, and leaves these machines out in the field from harvest to harvest, will hardly be commended. If a reform has not already set in, it perhaps will after the members of the farm loan board have made their tour of the country to establish federal land banks. And if not yet, it must as soon as loan association appraisers look up candidates for credit, under section ten of the new statute. These judges of financial values can be expected to set a pride of taste low and pride of efficiency high.

Hughes' Thoroughness

(From the New York Mail, Rep.) Mr. Hughes unconsciously revealed his dominant trait in his character when he declared in one of his speeches early in the campaign that when he as judge he was completely a judge, and now that he is a candidate he is completely a candidate.

The Hughes trait is thoroughness. He loves slowly but surely. He searches for the fact, and acts only on that. He is always on sure ground. No one can rive him into a position he cannot defend. There is no campaign claptrap about him. When Mr. Hughes declared that the head of the Geodetic survey was a horse doctor he knew that he was talking about Secretary of Commerce Redfield, who had appointed the horse doctor, lasted just no round in the ring with Mr. Hughes in this subject. Hughes knew what he was talking about. Redfield did not.

So it will be found as the campaign envelops, and when Mr. Hughes begins work in the White House, he will always be found standing on the facts in the case—not on theories and not on partisan prejudice. He will be master of the subject, whatever it may be, at the time of decision—in full command of every fact and figure. That was his habit while governor at Albany and while justice at Washington. It will be his habit as chief executive of the nation. He will be completely a President. That is what the country needs.

Preparedness

(From the Boston Traveler.) There is genuine cause for rejoicing in the fact that, within a short time, possibly within a few weeks, every Massachusetts soldier now encamped on the Mexican border will have a cot in which to sleep. Those who have been meeting at the Wilson administration because of its unpreparedness to make good on the mobilization orders which it sent out a few months ago will have to admit that in the matter of cots for soldiers it is establishing a record of its own.

It is true that some of the states have not yet sent a soldier to the front, but that is part of the plan of strategy slowly developed by the administration. If more soldiers had been sent, there would have been a louder demand for cots, more numerous complaints concerning transportation methods and vehicles, and, generally, too much unpleasant criticism. But now, or within a few months at the latest, when practically all of the troops that were summoned have responded in person or by substitute, a cot will be ready, or will have been ordered, for every new arrival, and nothing will be lacking for his benefit except, possibly, a ration and a paymaster.

Lack of Preparedness May Result in Disaster for Nation.

Unprepared? We are prepared to face a whole world's scornful laughter without a smile.

Every 24 hours the tide ebbs and flows around what one writer has described "the oasis of Tavistock in its torquise setting of the sea," bringing health to the inhabitants and growth to the vegetables and color to the flowers, for no where else have the flowers such beautiful color. Herbert Milton Sylvester in his "Settlements of Maine," shows a fine view of Tavistock with the Whites-buck lighthouse beyond, and makes several references in his four volumes of history, one of which I have quoted above. In another he says, "a half a mile from Port Point light is a green island in the sea, with a low room house, the Anchorage, and this is Tavistock Island, whose owner I am told is a scholar and a historian. Well may he be, for he is surrounded by history. A look to the southwest, one sees where the first white man landed in New Hampshire; to the west, New Castle, the first capital of New Hampshire; to the north, Kittery, the first capital of Maine, with its great men; to the east, Gerish Island where Colonel Timothy Gerish lived as a country gentleman and colonel of the state militia, which furnished him a beautiful horse to ride. What a figure he must have made at muster time on his beautiful horse. They have all gone the way of the world, only the summer visitor cares for even their history. SAYS DEMOCRAT PLEDGES ARE BUT SCRAPS OF PAPER

WOMEN'S COMMITTEE OF THE HUGHES ALLIANCE IN NEW YORK ISSUES STRONG CAMPAIGN STATEMENTS

New York, Aug. 24.—The third weekly bulletin published today at their headquarters at 511 Fifth Avenue by the Women's Committee of the National Hughes Alliance consists of an edition which has been printed in bulk at the request of the Maine Republican Committee for use in the campaign in that state.

The leading article by President Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia University attacks the present administration as incompetent and vacillating, while Miss Frances A. Keller, Chairman of the Women's Committee takes issue with the President on the lack of national preparedness for the inevitable industrial crisis which will follow the close of the European war. Ex-Commissioner of Labor John L. Williams quotes records to show that Hughes as governor of New York was a pioneer in child labor legislation.

President Butler states: "The Democratic pledges of 1912 have been treated as scraps of paper and abandoned before the higher political necessity which consists in votes at any cost. Where Republican policies seemed hopeful they have been seized upon, altered for the worst, and proclaimed to the country as Democratic triumphs."

"The one great victory of the administration is over the Democratic party and its principles. Thomas Jefferson would turn in his grave if he could read the legislation of the past four years. Andrew Jackson would stand amazed before the Mexican imbroglio. Samuel J. Tilden and Grover Cleveland would have ill-concealed indignation at what has masqueraded as Democracy. Republican victory in November is essential if our country is to be made fully conscious of its duties and obligations both at home and abroad and made ready to meet and discharge them."

Including that the present child labor legislation of New York is due to Mr. Hughes' initiative and support, ex-Commissioner Williams quotes four of the messages sent by Mr. Hughes as governor to the legislature at Albany. Not only did the governor

HIGH COST OF NEW YORK APARTMENTS

New York, Aug. 25.—In the section of Fifth Avenue alone there have been erected for occupancy Oct. 1 next, fifty-three apartments renting for $10,000 and more; eighty, $5,000 to $10,000; 125, $3,000 to $5,000; 100, $2,000 to $3,000; and 108, $1,000 to $2,000. Of this total of 478 new apartments, 97 are still for rent. Last summer only 258 new apartments of these priced rentals were opened, but on the corresponding date a larger proportion was unrented this year, showing the amazing growth in the demand for luxurious quarters of this character.

Three times recommend the passage of child labor laws in ordinary sessions but to the special session of 1908 he sent a message urging the passage of a bill to transfer the administration of such laws from the local boards of health to the state department of labor.

Among the laws protecting children for which it is stated, Mr. Hughes is responsible are the eight hour law for children under sixteen; the law forbidding the employment of children in specifically dangerous trades; the law strengthening the compulsory education, and providing for the establishment of trade and industrial schools. The rules regarding the issuing of work certificates to school children were made more stringent, while yet another law refers all cases affecting children to the jurisdiction of the children's courts. Mr. Williams article is part of a full record of Mr. Hughes' governorship which has been carefully compiled by the committee and which will be published in serial form.

That President Wilson failed to deal adequately with the unemployment crisis of 1914-1915 is charged by Miss Keller who states that in dealing with the question of recurrent unemployment the administration has not even attempted to live up to its slogan of "Industrial preparedness." The present prosperity is flimsy and due to war conditions and after the war unemployment may be expected which may bring the most serious industrial social crisis which the country has faced. For this Mr. Wilson's administration has made no preparation and has no policy. "It will tax every resource of the executive," concludes Miss Keller. "We have nothing to hope from Mr. Wilson but the indifference and neglect of 1916."

JOKE CURES SOLDIER OF DUMBNESS

London, Aug. 25.—An Australian soldier struck dumb by shell shock in France and now in the hospital has recovered his speech as the result of a further shock—a trick played on him by three other wounded soldiers, with the connivance of a physician.

A hammock had been stretched between two trees on the river bank, and the dumb soldier was persuaded to occupy it. As he was dozing off in the summer sun the rope near his head was suddenly cut with the result that the occupant tumbled a somersault and fell into the water. As he clambered to the bank he called out irritably:

"Who the h— did that?"

The man now talks in a hoarse whisper.

LEAGUE HAS NEW LEASE ON LIFE

Sportsmen's Meeting at Hampton Falls.

The New Hampshire Sportsmen's League took a new lease on life on Thursday afternoon at a meeting of representatives of the various gun clubs and sportsmen's associations, held at Applecrest Farm, Hampton Falls at the invitation of Walter D. Farmer, president of the league.

One hundred delegates were present representing clubs from all over the state, and the sentiment was practically unanimous for a strong state organization, which the sportsmen have not hitherto had, and this sentiment was expressed in a substantial way by the subscription of $533 towards the $1000 fund, which is the aim of the league, through encouragement was given to warrant the belief that the fund eventually can be increased to $3500.

The league has been existence for several years, but it has been a more or less dormant organization up to this time. Those New Hampshire sportsmen who are interested in the future of game conditions in the state believe that a great deal of good can be accomplished by a strong central organization which will be a power to be reckoned with when any legislation concerning game conditions is proposed.

The subscriptions already pledged have given the league reason to believe that it will be able to carry out its plans for reorganization, and another meeting will be held on Sept. 4 in the office of James H. Mendall in the old court house in Manchester. In order that the work of the league may be carried out in the meantime, Richard E. Shute, of Exeter, was elected permanent secretary. The other permanent officers will be chosen at the next meeting.

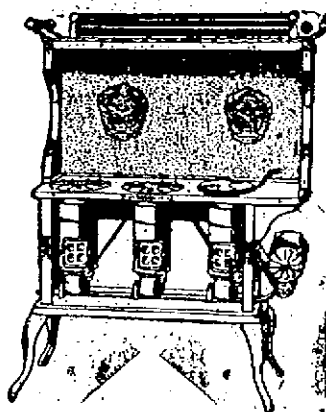

Among those present were representatives of the Ameskeag Textile club of Manchester, Richard Nyberg, Hanson H. Armstrong, Fred N. McCune and Charles Whitney; Ameskeag Gun club of Manchester, Herman Thompson, H. I. Russell, Charles Frazier, Charles Bailey, Sumner Patten; Manchester Fish and Game Protective Association, James H. Mendall; Merrimack County Sportsmen's association of Concord, R. H. Carpenter, John Stark and Peter King; Hillsborough Fish and Game association of Nashua, and Lone Pine Hunters' club, Charles Parrott, Ex-Am and Game Commissioner Nathaniel Wentworth of Hudson, H. C. Latell, Charles Jackson and Waldo F. Hubbard, superintendent of the Nashua Fish Hatchery; Dover Sportsmen's association, D. W. Halloran and William W. Carson; Exeter Sportsmen's club, Dr. G. W. Gerrish, Richard E. Shute, and J. Warren Tilton; Fitzwilliam Fish and Game association, J. S. Blair and Ralph Morgan.

A clam bake was served at noon on the farm of A. W. Simpson of Dover. The after-dinner speaking which followed brought out several new ideas in the regulation of hunting and fishing. Ex-Commissioner Wentworth believed that the governor's council ought not to have the power of appointing the deputy game wardens. He also advocated limiting the amount of a catch of fish by number instead of by weight. He believed also that the laws should be changed to keep pace with the increase in the amount of game.

Quite a number from this city are in attendance at the Abenaki golf tournament which is being played at Nye.

FIRST JAPANESE PRINCESS TO MARRY A FOREIGNER

Tokyo, August 25.—For the first time in Japanese history a princess of the Imperial family is to marry a foreigner. The bridegroom is an Oriental and a Japanese subject as well, nevertheless he is a foreigner in Japanese eyes and is enjoying a tremendous honor in being permitted to wed a daughter of the Gods.

The bride to be is Princess Masako Nashimoto, eldest daughter of Prince Nashimoto, the Emperor's cousin and the happy man is Prince Yi Kun of Korea, eldest son of the ex-Emperor of Korea. The Prince is 20 years of age and the Princess is 15. She is still a student at the Peers' school in Tokyo and has two years study before her yet, so the wedding will not take place for some time.

The young Prince is a pupil of the military academy in Tokyo and has lived in Japan for the last five years.

The wedding of the two families marks a step in Japan's policy of absorbing the Koreans, to whom, they are of course closely allied in race.

The wedding is said to have been planned by Prince Ito, when as Governor-General of Korea he brought the young Prince to Japan for his education. The present Gov.-General, Count Terauchi, approved of the plan and it fell to him to carry out the final negotiations which made it a success.

SERES' EVACUATION ORDERED AT ATHENS

Greeks Retire from City Following Heavy Bombardment by Bulgars.—Allies Driven Back in Macedonia.

London, Aug. 24.—Greek troops around the ancient city of Seres are evacuating their positions and retiring southward under orders from the Greek government, said an Athens dispatch this afternoon.

The retirement was ordered after Greek positions had been heavily bombarded by the Bulgarians for several hours.

Seres is now a prosperous commercial city of 31,000 inhabitants, devoted chiefly to the wool trade. It is about 70 miles northeast of Salonica.

The Greek commander in the Seres region, who prepared for a determined resistance as the Bulgarians approached the city, was apparently overruled by his superiors at the capital.

A delayed official statement from the Bulgarian war office this afternoon claimed further progress in the fighting near Seres and declared the allies were retreating along the right bank of the Struma. The German war office, however, admitted that on the left the Serbians have checked the Bulgarian advance by obstinate resistance. An official statement from the French war office reported the Serbians pushing back the Bulgars at some points.

Ally Forces to Retire Under Bulgarian Attacks

Berlin, by wireless to Sayville, Aug. 24.—Defeat of the entente forces along the Struma river, on the Macedonian front in northeastern Greece, was announced by the Bulgarian war office in a statement issued at Sofia.

The statement says the entente forces took flight, leaving the ground covered with dead, and that, up to the time the statement was issued, the bodies of more than 400 dead had been counted. Large quantities of ammunition and supplies, including eight machine guns were captured by the Bulgarians.

Statement From Sofia

The announcement follows: "We defeated the enemy on the Struma Aug. 21. The enemy escaped by flight on the right bank. The whole ground in the neighborhood of the villages of Erikeu, Mevry and Towolova was covered with bodies of the enemy's dead. Up to the present time we have counted more than 400 dead, including the bodies of several officers.

"We captured eight machine guns, a large number of rifles, grenades, and wagons for artillery and supplies. We also took 100 unarmoured prisoners, including 4 officers, and 40 wounded prisoners. The battlefield was covered with a huge quantity of kits, which proved that the enemy was defeated completely. "A squad of hostile cavalry was lured by a manoeuvre of our cavalry into the range of our infantry fire and literally annihilated.

"French attacks which had been directed for 10 days against our positions south and west of Lake Doiran failed completely. This probably is the reason why the general staff of Gen. Sarrail (the allied commander) reports the capture of places which all along had been in the hands of the French, such as the railroad station of Doiran and the village of Doladlyell, which was abandoned by the enemy.

"Our troops buried 50 French dead on the right bank of the Vardar. In the vicinity of Nayadaga we captured a hostile detachment and one machine gun. The French left 70 dead behind them.

"On our right wing operations are continuing."

Bulgars Attacking Greek City of Seres
London, Aug. 24.—The ancient Greek city of Seres, 43 miles northwest of Salonica, is under attack by a strong Bulgarian force, according to Athens dispatches today.

The Greek garrison is co-operating with French forces in defending the city. French artillery is replying vigorously to a heavy Bulgarian bombardment while the Greeks, under command of Col. Christophoulos are throwing up entrenchments. The Seres garrison is being re-enforced by small Greek detachments which retired on the city after spirited fighting with numerically superior Bulgarian forces.

On practically every other section of the Balkan front the Bulgarian offensive has been brought to a standstill. The Serbs have yielded but little ground on the left wing since their first retirement. Anglo-French forces are consolidating and improving their positions in the Doiran region on the center.

The Bulgarian drive southward against Seres, a city of 35,000 inhabitants, has created a new and more critical situation at Athens. If Seres falls, the Bulgars will have practically cut off all the Greek troops operating in eastern Macedonia, a territory highly prized by the Bulgarians. These Greek detachments, in the event Greece enters the war, could rejoin the main Greek army only by a march along the seacoast and across a narrow isthmus formed by Thessaly lake and the sea.

WOULD DRIVE OUT PEOPLE

Berlin, Aug. 25.—The Rhine-Westphalia Gazette today proposes driving out all aliens from territory occupied by the German army. By the clearing of Belgium, France, Russian and Serbian lands under German control of their inhabitants and driving these people into territory held by the Allies, the newspaper urges, the Germans would not only have all the food they wanted for themselves but would be able to sell to Sweden, to Greece and other embarrassed neutrals which were inclined to the Teutonic side.

FINDS WAY TO AVOID COLD FEET

London, Aug. 25.—General Sir Sam Hughes, head of Canada's military forces was playing a visit to a hospital in which Canadian wounded are lying. He commiserated with a man who had lost one foot.

"But it is all right," said the patient. "You see general, I can never get cold feet again."

The general stopped one of the nurses.

"Are you married?" he asked. "No," replied the nurse, blushing.

"Then don't get married until after the war."

DENMARK REJECTS SALE OF ISLANDS TO THE U. S.

London, Aug. 24.—The Danish Landsting has rejected the proposal to sell the Danish West Indies to the United States, says a Reuters dispatch from Copenhagen.

The vote was taken in committee by the Landsting, the upper house of the Danish Parliament. The treaty was rejected by 19 votes.

Although the lower House of the Danish Parliament approved the project for sale of the islands to the United States for $25,000,000, the action of the Landsting in rejecting it was expected generally in Denmark. This vote, however, does not necessarily mean the final defeat of the project, as other questions of a political nature are involved.

Negotiations for the formation of a coalition cabinet failed yesterday and general elections are to be held, after which the treaty with the United States will be brought up again.

Copenhagen, via London, Aug. 24.—The Landsting sat in committee this afternoon and passed a resolution that if the sale of the Danish West Indies cannot be postponed until after the war the question shall be settled by general elections. The resolution will be submitted formally to the Landsting tomorrow at an open meeting.

Chairman Willcox of the Republican National Committee, has announced the completion of his organization with the appointment of an advisory committee consisting of Gov. R. Livingston Beseckman of Rhode Island, former Senator Burton of Ohio, former Comptroller of the Currency, Chas. G. Dawes, former Gov. Eberhardt of Minnesota, former Senator Fulton of Oregon, Frank H. Hitchcock, former Postmaster General and chairman of the Republican National Committee in 1908, Raymond Robbins, formerly chairman of the Illinois Progressive State Committee, Victor Rosewater, editor of the Omaha Bee, former postmaster General John W. Wamaker, William L. Ward, formerly National Committee man from New York, and James Wilson, of Iowa, who as Secretary of Agriculture made a record for the longest service as a cabinet member in the Nation's history. This is regarded as an extremely strong committee, its members being men of wide experience in conducting campaigns and all of them men of influence in their respective communities. The Republican managers are enthusiastic over what they regard as an extremely wise and powerful rounding out of their national organization.

PASS TWO BILLION MARK.—With the completion of this session Congress will have made a new record for expenditures. The appropriations of this session, including authority given to award contracts, pass the enormous total of $2,000,000,000—or to express it more intelligibly, they will have exceeded 2,000 million dollars. The actual appropriations total $1,710,000,000 and to this must be added authorizations for continuing expenses amounting to $285,644,000. These figures include $75,000,000 for good roads and $50,000,000 for flood control. The appropriations for this session will exceed those of the last session by $15,000,000 and those of the last year of the Taft administration by $600,000,000. The increased appropriations on account of national defense, according to Senator Smoot, total in round numbers $356,000,000, leaving the remaining $150,000,000 attributable to Democratic extravagance. The Democrats protest against the inclusion in these figures of $50,000,000 for flood control, because it has passed the House but not the Senate, but they also predict it will pass the Senate during this Congress. "Democratic debauch" is the term Republicans apply to the lavishness displayed by the Democrats in their handling of the Government's funds. Senator Smoot declares that "if we could bring the Democratic party into a court of justice and try it under the rules of law, the evidence would be more than adequate to convict it of attempting to secure votes under false pretenses," this referring to the efforts of the administration to juggle the statistics and belittle the facts. Mr. Smoot also asserts that should the Democratic party remain in power the country would suffer "an era of unbridled extravagance, combined with inefficiency unsurpassed."

SOME DISCREPANCIES.—Explanation has been asked of apparently glaring discrepancies between Republican and Democratic figures, in the matter of appropriations, for instance. There are, of course, various ways in which figures can be juggled, but in discussing appropriations, the Democratic leaders almost invariably include only so much of the funds appropriated as they believe it will be necessary to pay out during the approaching fiscal year, whereas the Republicans include in the total not only all that must be paid during the coming fiscal year, but all for which government officials are authorized to go in debt during the approaching fiscal year. For instance, there was provided by Congress to be expended this year for fighting equipment—that is ships, guns, and ammunition—$132,315,000, but Secretary Daniels held up contracts and delayed the beginning of the work to such an extent that only a small part of this amount will be expended before June 30, when the fiscal year ends. The two new battleships authorized March 4, 1915, were not begun for many months and no payment on their account is likely this year. Congress appropriated $5,100,000 for submarines, but only about $2,350,000 was expended. In fact, this year has been the worst from the standpoint of naval construction that has occurred in many a long day. In view of the condition of the Treasury and Secretary McAdoo's insistence that all heads of departments so handle their work as to make the bills come in as far in the future as possible, there is considerable suspicion among Republicans that after the "preparedness program" has been duly utilized for election purposes there will be a slump, so that the next administration will have to pay the bills.

TREMONT THEATRE

The newly rebuilt Tremont Theatre, Boston, opens again on Labor day. Since the fire that gutted the interior of the theatre last spring the entire theatre has been renewed entirely; only the four walls being preserved. In its new construction it is today one of the most modern theatres in America. The attraction that will open the house is fitting to the honor conferred upon it. It is the greatest attraction theatrically that has ever been seen in America, an attraction built of the theatre's newest art, the motion picture, Thomas Ince's "Civilization."

Every past accomplishment of the motion picture makers has been outdone in the making of this gigantic spectacle, and to so far a purpose that a new mark has been set that will prove an elusive goal for long to come. "Civilization is the costliest spectacle ever filmed, Thomas Ince having spent over $1,000,000 in the work. More than 40,000 people were employed in the scenes, many for long periods of time. Cities were built only later to be destroyed. The appliances made mounted to staggering sums in the cost.

The sale of seats for this colossal cinema spectacle will begin Monday at the Tremont box office. There will be two performances daily at 2 and 8 p. m. with the top prices for evenings at one dollar and for matinees at seventy-five cents. Mail orders will receive the most careful attention.

WAR DEPARTMENT MAY FIND

VERSITY.

Northfield, Vt., Aug. 24.—At a meeting of the Trustees of Norwich University held Aug. 12, a resolution was passed asking the War Department to grade Norwich University as Reserve Officers Training Corps, in the senior division, Cavalry branch of the service.

The change in the military status of the university will be a source of much satisfaction to everybody interested in its welfare. President Ira L. Reeves, who is also Colonel of the 1st Vermont Infantry and now on the border, heartily approves of the contemplated change. The Dean of the University, H. H. Roberts, upon being interviewed stated that there were many advantages to be gained by becoming a unit of the Reserve Officers Training Corps and particularly the following. Students will be allowed to complete their college course without interference. They are not to be called into service until after graduation and then only as commissioned officers. Upon graduation the commissioned officers will be allowed to serve with the regular army troops for a period of six months with a salary of $100 per month. Students after becoming seniors and juniors will be given the regular commutation of railroads during their remaining two years in college. This will add the student very much, as it practically pays his board. Students will be given one complete set of service uniforms without charge each year.

As before the University will retain the services of a regular army officer as professor of military science and tactics also one or more non-commissioned officers as instructors.

GAS COOKING IS THE BEST

The old theory that a meal could not be cooked as good by a gas range as on a coal stove has been exploded. All modern homes now use gas exclusively for cooking. Even the great hospitals where the food must be cooked in the most wholesome method, have discarded the coal ranges and are using gas. See some of the modern gas ranges in our showroom.

BOY OFFICER TELLS OF GREAT SEA BATTLE

London, Aug. 24.—Sir Gilbert Parker has given the International News service a letter written by a 19-year-old sub-lieutenant on a British destroyer to a midshipman now in the hospital after losing his leg, which describes in vivid style the feelings of a mere boy in the greatest sea battle of history.

The letter reads in part: "I expected to be excited but was not a bit, but you know the sort of feeling one has when one goes into battle at cricket and rather a lot depends upon you doing well and you are waiting for the first ball; well, it is very much the same as that—do you know what I mean? A sort of tense feeling waiting for the unknown to happen, and not quite knowing what to expect; one does not feel the slightest bit frightened, and the idea that there is a chance of you and your ship being scuppered does not really enter one's head—there are too many other things to think about. This ship is just about the latest thing in destroyers and we all transferred officers and ship's company from the Beaver here.

We were attached to the battle cruisers and were with them throughout the action, so we were probably in the thick of it.

"To start with, it was all at such long range that the destroyers were rather out of it, except there were plenty of 25 falling around us, and we just watched; it really seemed like a battle practice on a large scale, and we could see the flashes of the German guns on the horizon.

"Then they ordered us to attack, and so we hustled off at full bore. Being navigator, also having control of all the guns, I was on the bridge all the time and remained there for twelve hours without leaving it at all. "When we got fairly close I sighted a good looking gun destroyer which I thought I'd like to strike. I had just got their range on the guns and we had just fired one round when some more of our destroyers coming from the opposite direction got between us and the enemy and completely blanketed us, so we had to stop firing.

"Shortly afterwards they recalled us so we hustled back again. How many destroyers got out of it is perfectly wonderful. Literally there were hundreds of props all around us from a 15 to a 4 and you know what a big splash a 15 bursting in the water does make. We got soaked through by the spray.

"Just as we were getting back a whole salvo of big shells fell just in front of us and short of our big ships. The skipper and I did rapid calculations as to how long it would take them to reload, fire again, time of flight, etc., as we had to go straight through the spot. We came to the conclusion that as they were shot a bit they would probably get a hit, and didn't, but luckily they altered direction and the next lot fell just astern of us.

"It is extraordinary the amount of knockabout the big ship can stand. One saw them hit, and they seemed to be one mass of flames and smoke and you think they're gone, but when the smoke clears away they are apparently none the worse and still bring away.

"It is to see a ship blown up is a terrible, but wonderful sight; an enormous volume of flame and smoke about 200 feet high and great heaps of metal, etc., blown sky high and when the smoke clears away not a sign of the ship.

stroyer in precisely the same condition.

"But the night was far away and the worst time of all, and an awful strain. It was pitch dark and, of course no lights and the firing seems so much worse at night as you could see the flashes absolutely lighting up the sky, and it seemed to make much more noise and you could see ships on fire and blowing up; of course, we showed absolutely no lights.

"One expected to be surprised any minute and eventually we were. We suddenly found ourselves within one thousand yards of two or three big Hun cruisers. They switched on their searchlights and started firing like nothing on earth, then they put their searchlights on us but for some extraordinary reason did not fire on us. As of course we were going full speed we'd lost them in a minute, but I must say that I and everybody else that I was the end.

"I never noticed that I was tired till I got back to harbor and then we all tumbled in and absolutely slept like dogs. We were 72 hours with little or no sleep. The skipper was wonderful, he never left the bridge for a minute for 24 hours."

HOW TO CUT ROSES.

Timely Home-Gardening Hints Series
(Office of Information, U. S. Dept. of Agriculture.)

Washington, D. C., Aug. 24.—There is a right and a wrong way to cut roses. The choice of the latter may seriously injure the blossom-producing properties of the plants, it is pointed out by specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. This applies particularly, of course, to rose plants chosen and grown especially for cut-flower production. Such roses will be largely of the perpetual blooming sorts.

When a rose is cut from such plants—tea roses or other perpetual bloomers—only two or three eyes of the current season's growth of that branch should be left on the plant. This should give the roses very long stems. Succeeding blossoms should be cut close to the ground. It will seem like destroying the bush to take so much off it, but if the object is the production of roses, the cutting away of the surplus wood will attain the desired end.

If the spring pruning has not been sufficiently severe the plant is likely to have long, naked stalks and short stems to the flowers. With this character of growth only one or two strong leaf buds should be left on the branch when the flower is cut, so as to stimulate as much growth as possible from the base of the plant.

The greatest temptation to leave wood is where there are two or more buds on one branch, some being small when the terminal one is open. This temptation to follow a bad practice can be avoided by pinching off all side shoots after a bud has formed on the end of a branch. This prevents the formation of two or more buds on one stalk. This summer pruning will encourage additional blooms on varieties which bloom more than once a year.

FREE CONVICTS TO FIGHT FIRE

Concord, Mass., Aug. 24.—Three families were made homeless, telephone service demoralized and thousands of dollars' worth of damage was done at Concord yesterday afternoon and evening by an electrical storm which raged for more than four hours.

During the height of the storm a squad of convicts at the state prison were liberated and successfully fought a fire in a barn near the jail. After they had completed their fire-fighting work they marched back to their cells.

MILLINERS CONVENTION NEXT WEEK

PLAN TO MAKE BOSTON THE
"STYLE CENTER" FOR NEW ENGLAND—MEETING TO BE HELD IN BOSTON

A campaign to stimulate millinery designing and its constructive art, as well as to make Boston, the "style center" of New England has been launched by the Retail Milliners Association of New England. It is expected that milliners will be present from every town and city in the New England states at the semi-annual convention which is to be held at Ford Hall, Boston on Tuesday and Wednesday August 29 and 30.

Every milliner has been asked to contribute their ideas for the most original and artistic tower or ostrich-trimmed hat as well as the most efficient time saving device or method of construction. These will be on exhibition at Ford Hall during the semi-annual convention and prizes will be awarded.

The program also includes an opening address of welcome by James M. Curley, mayor of Boston, addresses by President Wheeler of the Business Women's Club, and Roger W. Allen, editor of the Millinery Trade Review. One leading lecturer, on art and millinery, will speak on advance styles and fashions. Other lectures and demonstrations as well as a fashion show are being arranged.

FRANK LEAVITT REAPPOINTED TO POLICE BOARD

Succeeds Himself for Four Year Term as Commissioner.

At a night session of the governor and council on Thursday, Frank E. Leavitt was appointed police commissioner to succeed himself. His term expires the last day of August. The appointment is a three year term. Mr. Leavitt has already served four years on the board, part of which he has filled the place of chairman and has displayed great interest in the affairs of the police department since the day of his first appointment. Mr. Leavitt never sought the office and often stated that he would serve another term if elected.

Police Commissioner Leavitt

ed but would not appeal in his own behalf for the position. The next term to expire will be that of Commissioner M. J. Griffin, August, 1917.

Other appointments to the police boards of the state were the following: Nashua, Herbert P. Plafher; Berlin, E. W. Whitcomb; Somersworth, J. G. Hammond; Laconia, Elmer S. Tilton; Manchester, Thomas B. Donnelly; Dover, D'Orville L. Plankham; Robert A. French was nominated for special justice of the Nashua municipal court.

LOCAL BOARD OF TRADE PROMISES TO HELP STATE BOARD

Representatives of the New Hampshire State Board of Trade have completed a trip to this section of the state where they visited Portsmouth, Dover, Rochester and Somersworth in the interest of a movement of increased activity to develop the state.

A very enthusiastic meeting was held with the officers and many of the members of the Rochester Chamber of Commerce and that organization went on record to back the special financial campaign committee of the State Board for a campaign to raise Rochester's share of $300. The officers of the Portsmouth Board of Trade were likewise enthusiastic and will arrange for a meeting of the entire membership next month, at which time the plans of the State Board of Trade will be given in detail. There is no commercial and civic organization in Somersworth but prominent business men who were interviewed were of the opinion that New Hampshire needs a revived State Board of Trade and they are making plans for a conference of the Somersworth business men and representatives of the State Board of Trade. Several prominent business men of Dover have promised their hearty support when the campaign is put on in the fall.

This movement seemed to appeal to the business men of this part of the state particularly, because it promises to create a medium for setting the various sections of the state together.

NOTICE.

Public spirited citizens and all others should observe the rules of ordinary cleanliness about our streets and sidewalks; they must not throw paper, fruit or other debris about them. Abolition must keep their sidewalks clean. We have no infantile paralysis cases in our town and one of the ways to keep it out is cleanliness. Let's all try and give our summer visitors a good impression of our town and help keep diseases out of it.

(Signed) SAMUEL T. LADY,
Mayor.

"THE SIX LITTLE TAYLORS"

There's no use in talking, there is something about an old show that sounds like more, and "The Six Little Taylors," which is his play for the last two days of this week at the Colonial, will leave us regretting that he only stays a week. This piece is built on the same general lines as Bob Ott's other musical comedies and yet is thoroughly new and up-to-date in every way. It is like Robert's other plays as funny as that premier comedian can make it, which is, some funny. The chorus exerts in new costumes and produces new dance figures galore.

The first half of the coming week brings another picture revival to the Colonial with Francis X. Bushman, John Barrymore and Hazel Dawn in leading places. This coming week sure looks like one mighty big week from the picture lovers' standpoint when such stars as those mentioned are featured in one bill. There will be numerous lesser films to accompany the five-reeler.

SCORES A SUCCESS

F. C. B. Carnival Well Attended Despite Weather Conditions.

While it was not a P. T. Barnum show by any means, the first carnival under the auspices of the F. C. B. club held on Thursday evening is deserving of much credit from a local standpoint as it is a purely local arrangement. The affair was well patronized on Thursday evening notwithstanding the unfavorable weather conditions. Owing to weather conditions the management was unable to present several of its attractions, but expect to have the full attraction tonight. All of the booths were well patronized and Madam Cooper at the Gypsy fortune tell was kept busy the entire evening. The shooting gallery was also well patronized and Tideo's fighting dreadsnaughts found great favor.

The grounds are well lighted and resembled the gay white way. Tonight is your last opportunity to take in this novelty show. The cars of the Portsmouth street road go direct to the grounds.

On Thursday afternoon Officer Anderson took into custody a young man stopping at York Harbor, who was making a perfect nuisance of himself in a Congress street barber shop. The fellow was taken to the police station where after a reprimand by Chief of Police Hurley he was released, the proprietor of the place not caring to prosecute. Those who witnessed the young man's actions do not hesitate to say he was one of the freshest specimens that has struck this city for some time.
